

First summer concert joy

The first of the Summer Concerts at the Cathedral, held at St German's Cathedral, Peel, on May 25 was a great success. Sheean Prash Brass Quintet entertained with a selection of music in their own, inimitable style. Guest compere was Kevin Ford.

During the evening, a presentation was made to Bet Callin who has organised the summer concert programme on behalf of the Cathedral Women's Guild for the past 20 years.

Bet has decided to retire from this most demanding task and in recognition and appreciation of her hard work and dedication; she was presented with a gift voucher and a flower arrangement by Canon Nigel Godfrey and the curate, the Reverend Margaret Burrows.

The Cathedral music department will organise the programme in future.

This season's programme continues with concerts every Tuesday at 7.45pm.

Admission is free, with a retiring collection at the end.
